QUALITIES In Sound
Little Known Facts

Played with wooden mallets like a xylophone, the pantaleon was the largest stringed instrument constructed for a single player. Played by George Noel in England in 1767, the instrument consisted of 276 gut and metal strings stretched over a horizontal soundboard 11 feet long by five feet wide.

Any instrument sounds better when listened to on top-quality audio equipment like Realistic, sold exclusively through Radio Shack's more than 6,000 outlets around the country. The Realistic tape deck with open-reel specs is the top of the line cassette deck. It features three heads, dual capstan drive and double dolby to please even the most demanding perfectionist.

An automatically played violin called the "violinista" was a popular feature of penny arcades of the 1920s. The first automatic violin to vibrate the strings with a bow, the violinista was electrically operated and controlled by air flowing through a music roll's perforations.

Purr-fect Holiday

Planning to give your children a pet for Christmas? Three suggestions from the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA), can make the gift a joy for the entire family.

Decide what size pet you can accommodate in your house or apartment, allowing enough room for the animal to sleep, eat, play and exercise. Be sure to select a pet that will fit into your family's style of living.

Exotic animals such as monkeys, skunks, jungle cats and certain reptiles rarely make good pets. They are usually expensive and difficult to care for. Exotic animals can also be very dangerous.

Pets cost money. Be prepared for the day-to-day expenses of food, health care and other essentials. "Free" pets from animal shelters also involve some expense. Any animal you bring into your home should be thoroughly examined by a veterinarian and vaccinated against infectious diseases. Depending upon local laws, your pet may also require a license.

Good health depends on regular medical attention, proper nutrition and correct treatment and handling. A veterinarian should give your pet regular medical checkups and can advise you on planning a properly balanced diet. Be sure family members do not mistreat the pet. Very young children may unknowingly injure a young animal, often by "over loving" it.

It is a good idea to have your pet spayed or neutered as soon as your veterinarian says the animal is ready. Spaying will free you from the burden of trying to find homes for kittens and puppies — an increasingly difficult problem. You probably will find that the operation also makes your pet healthier and a better companion. Neutered animals are less likely to roam, fight or "spot" furniture and carpets.

Your new pet will be with you for a long time. Careful selection, proper planning and responsible care can make pet ownership a wonderful experience for the whole family.

Sound waves travel one mile in approximately five seconds.

'Great' Ideas Dept.

Because some ills are accompanied by a loss of appetite, some people have had the "great" idea that fasting would cure all ills. Medical experts point out that, in most cases, this idea is strictly from hunger.

* * *

In what is probably an effort to improve conditions for workers, the government had some "great" ideas about regulating the cotton industry. Economics experts point out this would raise clothing prices and so hurt a lot of working people. Many people are writing their legislators to learn their opinion of these unneeded regulations.

Some people once had the "great" idea that the best way to cure a toothache was to eat a mouse.

"Truly absurd is the man who never changes."
Auguste Barthelmy

The greatest reliable age reported for a monkey is about 46 years for a male mandrill baboon named "George."
